

E.C.Books-PROJECT PUBLISHING

OVERVIEW

Dissemination and communication is a key aspect of any technology driven project. We specialise in the preparation of print ready publications, that are suitable for use as an addition to your website, and for traditional paper media.

We also offer additional e-services to support your activities, including domain name registration and hosting, regular newsletters and the preparation and print of pop-ups, leaflets and booklets for conferences and meetings.

WHO ARE WE?

E C Books is part of Goodyer Scientific Instruments Ltd (GSI). GSI started trading as "Electronics & Computing Consultancy" in 1991, as a design consultancy service specialising in microelectronics. Incorporated in 1995 as GSI Ltd, it continues to offer engineering design service today, in the general field of Measurement, Automation & Control – with specific interests in transport, medical instrumentation and volume manufactured goods.

E C Books was established to complement the engineering business, by marketing used scientific books. This has now expanded to include E C Rare Books, which sells early printed works in the fields of science & technology, early exploration, natural history, as well as important illustrated and literary works.

We now offer digital publishing services, which applies traditional print layout skills to produce electronic publications, suitable for both physical media use and website integration.

Thus our Project Publishing services is supported by a history of working in innovation. Our staff and company have been involved with a range of grant aided project from the EU, UK Innovate and Regional ERDF funding.

OUR SERVICES

We can offer the following services

- Regular newsletter – using material provided by the project partners, we will undertake the layout and compositing to produce an online and/or print output to support dissemination.
- Leaflet and pop-up design. Let us convert your achievements into physical form for use at conferences and meetings. Using traditional compositing methods, we can give your concepts visual impact.
- Domain name registration and hosting. We can arrange this for you, and the domain can be used for both your standard website and to host your publications ready for download.

A typical package would include domain registration for 5 years, to allow for any legacy to your project. A quarterly newsletter. 10 pop-up designs per annum. 20 A4 leaflet layouts per annum and 1 project book (of 60 pages) per annum.
